Now Dear Friend, The extreme heat waves gripping almost every region of the nation are no coincidence. Climate change is generating more intense and more frequent extreme weather events. Congress must help communities prepare for climate-driven disasters before they strike. I took to the U.S. House of Representatives Floor to speak about my Weatherization Resilience and Adaptation Program (WRAP) Act. If passed, my bill would help low-income homeowners weatherize their properties. You can watch my speech above. Thanks,
