At least half of the funding each institution receives will be distributed to students in the form of emergency cash assistance grants to help pay for housing, food, and other basic essentials. Students have been sheltering in place, often far from loved ones, without financial security. They need relief and assistance from the federal government to support them in these uncertain times. This funding is necessary to support students's needs as they navigate the response to the coronavirus outbreak. As a former public-school teacher in a low-income community, I've seen the struggles students face both inside and outside of the classroom. I will keep fighting for the needs of students, families, and workers in future legislative packages. The colleges and universities in California's 41st District that are receiving grants and the grant amounts received are: </P> <ul> <li>University of California, Riverside: $29,734,626</li> <li>Cal Baptist University: $7,913,118</li> <li>La Sierra University: $2,144,179</li>

<li>Riverside City College: $10,831,532</li> <li>Moreno Valley College: $3,681,844</li> </ul> In total, the CARES Act provides $14 billion in emergency higher education relief funding to help students and institutions during the COVID-19 pandemic. Yesterday, the Department of Education announced the first $6 billion of that funding will be immediately sent to institutions

so they can begin providing grants to struggling students. The CARES Act also includes an additional $1 billion &#8211; which will be distributed at a later date &#8211; for Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs), Tribal Colleges and Universities (TCUs), other Minority-Serving Institutions, and other under-resourced institutions. To read more about emergency education funding under the CARES Act, click <A id="CARES Act" style="color: #0000ff;" title="CARES Act"
