bicameral delegation trip to Israel this weekend with House Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman Michael McCaul (R-TX), the Committee's Ranking Member Gregory Meeks (D-NY), Representatives John James (D-MI), Jared Moskowitz (D-FL), Madeline Dean (D-PA) and Max Miller (R-OH), along with Senators Jerry Moran (R-KS) and John Hoeven (R-ND). We met with Prime Minister Bibi Netanyahu, Israeli Defense Minister Yoav Gallant, the U.S. Ambassador to Israel Jacob Lew, and the family members of hostages held by Hamas terrorists.
During our delegation trip, we also received a private briefing on Hamas' October 7 terrorist attack against Israel and the latest information regarding the safety and whereabouts of those currently held in the Gaza Strip. We learned a great deal from our conversations and briefings, much of which I cannot share because it could jeopardize the safety of hostages as well as IDF forces. I appreciated the opportunity to speak with our friends in Israel and assure them of America's unwavering commitment and support. You can see some of the photos from our visit below: Wednesday, November 15, meetings in Israel below: & I also spoke about my trip as well as the need to support Israel with the hosts of Morning Joe this morning. You can watch that segment here: [I have said from the beginning that we must be unequivocal in our support for Israel and that there can be no daylight whatsoever between our two nations.
