City Park. Lastly, Reading had a celebration all weekend long from June 14 to 16, leading up to the holiday on June 19. It started with a Juneteenth flag raising in City Park on June 14 and then an announcement of Freedom at Washington Towers in Reading, as well as a community barbecue on Saturday and a closing ceremony on Sunday. Members of my team attended these events and celebrated freedom with the Reading community. You can view pictures from the weekend of events here. I know there were many more celebrations across Berks and Chester Counties to commemorate Juneteenth than just those we were able to cover here. I hope you were able to enjoy them! USDA Financing Opportunities Did you know that USDA grants are available to those who aren't farmers, too? I want to make sure that our local farmers and other eligible community members know about these opportunities. That's why my office is hosting a workshop to help spread this information. If you're interested, please join my team and Pennsylvania Director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Rural Development Bob Morgan on Tuesday, June 25, at 3 p.m. You can RSVP here. . . Serving as our community's representative is the honor of my lifetime, and I hope to hear from you soon about any issue that concerns you. As always, please contact my office if you need assistance. Be well, and see you soon! Chrissy HoulahanU.S. Member of Congress Were you forwarded this email? Sign up for my newsletter here.
