Peter, I've been fighting for SALT relief from the moment I came to Congress and I'm proud that the SALT Marriage Penalty Elimination Act - the very first bill I introduced this Congress - is slated to come to the House floor this Wednesday. By doubling the SALT cap for married couples, this legislation will right a wrong that penalizes these filers with an unfair tax penalty just for being married. In doing this, it will provide much-needed relief to families all across our country. The Tax Relief for American Families and Workers Act, which recently passed the House, expands the child tax credit. That was a crucial win for families in the Hudson Valley. The elimination of the SALT marriage penalty will provide further relief that families in our community so greatly need. How do you feel about providing SALT relief for middle class families in our community? Let me know by responding to our survey below!
