Hello Jon, Airplane safety, noise, and pollution are a major concern for many in our community. That's why I secured funding for the Federal Aviation Administration to study noise mitigation and establish a new Office of Community Engagement. Now, I'm proud to share that the FAA is holding public information workshops for Boston-area residents later this month. DO YOU PLAN TO ATTEND? Two workshops will be held over Zoom, and you can register at the following links: Wednesday, April 26th 1–3pm Session Registration Thursday, April 27th 6–8pm Session Registration These sessions will feature representatives from the FAA, Massport, and airlines that serve Logan Airport, as well as other aviation industry professionals. They will provide insight into how they manage our local airspace and open the floor to your questions. I know how important safe, clean, and courteous aviation is to you, and I will continue to advocate on your behalf to the FAA.
