Today, what was once a moonshot will soon be reality through the House passage of the transformative Build Back Better Act. The Build Back Better Act is a once-in-a-generation investment in families that will help us recover today and rebuild a stronger tomorrow. This legislation will lower costs, lower taxes, create jobs, and build an America where everyone has a fair shot at success. Do you support universal pre-kindergarten and protecting our planet? YesNo Submit Open in browser The Build Back Better Act will: Establish free, universal pre-k and cut child care costs for most families, and raise wages for our incredible early educators. Extend the largest tax cut for families in U.S. history — the Child Tax Credit — providing families up to $300/month per child. Fund the construction and rehab of over a million affordable homes across the U.S. Lower health care costs by expanding Medicare and ACA coverage, cutting prescription drug costs, and capping insulin at $35/month. Combat the climate crisis by slashing CO2 emissions, investing $550 billion in the clean energy economy, and creating a Civilian Climate Corps. Address climate injustice by ensuring 40% of climate investments are targeted to historically marginalized communities. Ensure the wealthiest pay their fair share through a surtax on individual income over $10 million and a minimum tax for the largest corporations. Combat inflation and grow the GDP by $3 Trillion while accelerating labor participation and adding an average of 1.5 million jobs per year. I am deeply proud of the Democratic Caucus and grateful to the White House for their work to get this bill over the finish line, and I am humbled by the impact it will have on every parent, child, worker, and American. This is what's possible when American families are front and center in Washington, D.C.
